SCOTT MAKES A SEIZURE.

Missed the Man but Got the Cabbage and Corn.

Last Saturday night Officer Scott was on his beat, keeping his eye open for any person who might be taking advantage of that still hour of the night to lay in a supply of "grub" for Sunday. He had walked a long time and had seen nothing that needed his attention; everything seemed still as death and the officer was about to give up all hope of finding anything to do when suddenly, in the bright moonlight, he saw something move in the distance. He cautiously started toward it.

Investigation proved it to be a man and he seemed to be hunting the officer. Mr. Scott ventured closer but the man had seen his uniform and shunned him as John R. Smith would shun a penitentiary report.

On the man's back was a pack which led the officer to believe that he belonged to the commissary department of the army. By good maneuvering Mr. Scott got close enough to speak "Hello." When he did the load dropped and the man went from under it like a shell from an American gunboat.

The officer then went near enough to examine the package which he found to be a sack filled with roasting ears and cabbage. The large quantity showed that someone's truck farm had suffered heavily, but the officer was not on detective work then. He placed the sack on his back and wended his way homeward. When he reached home his wife was about to accuse him of stealing, but after an explanation everything was all right and the officer returned to his work.

He now has roasting ears and cabbage every meal.

A GENUINE TAR RIVER.

The Boys Bathed in it, and Found it to be a Fact.

There is really and truly a tar river in North Carolina, but some folks will not believe it. An old Johnny Reb sends the New York Press the following story of how the Yankees found it.

"When the Confederates evacuated Washington, N. C., they rolled 1,000 barrels of tar and turpentine into the river at Taft's store, and two months later a steamboat, the Colonel Hill, with 400 Yankee prisoners going from Salisbury to Washington to be exchanged, tied up at a wharf to let the boys bathe. They stirred up the tar on the bottom of the river and were smeared with it from head to foot. When we came upon them each man had his rations of meat in one hand and a small stick in the other, scraping and greasing for dear life. 'Hello, boys; what's the matter?' I asked, and they replied: 'Durn if we hain't found Tar river at last: the whole bed is covered with pitch.'"—Murphy Scout.

An Old Question Comes Up.

The S'teenth regiment had taken a glorious part in its first battle of the war for Cuban freedom and was resting on its arms and its laurels.

"Well," remarked the soldier with the red bandana handkerchief around his head, "we've had our baptism of fire."

"I reckon we have," replied the soldier who was examining a wound on the butt of his rifle. "By the way, you're a Baptist, ain't you,"

"That's what I am."

"Did you notice that our baptism of fire came in the form of a sprinkling?"

"Not particularly. I noticed we were pretty thoroughly immersed in it."

When taps sounded an half hour later they were still wrangling over it.—Chicago Tribune.

FIERCE BATTLE AT MANILA.

Spaniards Attack the American Outposts

DONS SUSTAINED HEAVY LOSS.

American Loss, Nine Killed, About Forty Wounded—Spanish, Over Two Hundred Killed.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM

Hong Kong, August 9—Details just received by a special despatch boat from Manila show there was a most terrific battle on the night of July 31st between the Americans and Spaniards at Malato. The battle was fiercely contested and resulted in the Spaniards being repulsed with great losses.

Malato is on Monita bay, near the city of Manila and has been the outpost of the American and Insurgent forces which have been operating between Cavite and Manila.

THE ATTACK.

The Spaniards chose a dark night for the attack, hoping to run the Americans and retake the position by hurling a superior force of three thousand men against it.

The American force comprised the First battalion of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers, the First battalion California Third United States artillery, Battery A of Utah. It required three hours of fighting to drive the Spaniards back to Manila.

The American loss was nine killed and forty-four wounded.

The Spanish loss was over two hundred killed and three hundred wounded.

Scarcely any of the Americans were ever under fire before and they behaved splendidly.

The Spanish forces attacked the Americans several times, but the hot fire from the Americans broke the Spanish line in the center and they retreated. They again made a charge after the first retreat but were valiantly met and again forced to retreat to the bushes, keeping up an incessant fire on the road.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

Washington, Aug. 9—The war department gives out the following from Gen. Merritt:

Hong Kong, Aug. 8—McArthur's troops arrived on the thirty-first ulto. There was no epidemic of sickness and five deaths. Lieutenant Kerr's engineer died.

The landing of troops was delayed on account of high surf. To gain the approaches to the city Gen. Green's outposts advanced to continue the line to Camino and on Sunday night the Spaniards sharply attacked the artillery.

The outposts behaved well and held their position. It was unnecessary to call out the brigade.

The Spanish loss is rumored to be heavy. Our loss, nine killed, nine seriously wounded and thirty-eight slightly wounded.

THE HORSES WERE BORROWED.

But the Negro Had Been Engaged in Other Thieving.

The owner of the horses and wagon which Bill Bass was in posse-sion of when arrested last week by Constable Scott has been found. They belong to Rufus Blackburn, a seemingly industrious colored farmer of Forsyth county. Bill simply borrowed the outfit to come after forty bushels of wheat which he claimed he had near Greensboro. He did not return at the appointed time, however, and Rufus became uneasy and started out to find Bill. He learned on the way down that Bill had been stealing green corn with which to feed the horses.

Rufus says Bill came to his house about two weeks ago with a buggy and two sets of harness. Rufus' description of the buggy tallies exactly with that of the one stolen about two weeks ago from a colored woman residing about three miles south of the city, mention of which was made in these columns at the time.

Rufus' horses have been in Vanstory's stables and the charges for their keeping is about $5, which Rufus is unable to pay. He is trying to make a satisfactory arrangement with Mr. Vanstory to get his horses.

A Stickler For Details.

SPAIN'S REPLY DECIPHERED

But Not Yet Delivered to The State Department.

MAY BE DONE THIS AFTERNOON.

Belief Growing That Spain is Not Altogether Frank in Her Acceptance of Our Terms.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, August 9—At the hour of eleven o'clock this morning, the regular time for the meeting of the cabinet no notice of Spain's reply had been received. The belief is gaining ground that the Spanish reply is not a frank acceptance of our peace terms.

THE REPLY DECIPHERED.

Washington, Aug. 9—The Spanish answer to the American peace terms will probably be presented to the state department sometime this afternoon. It was definitely settled that it should be delivered to the president at today's cabinet meeting, but it was not done. The time cannot be fixed until Ambassabor Cambom has had time to carefully consider and study the reply, which has been deciphered in full. It is now receiving close examination. The only notification which has been received by the government is that the reply itself has been received by the French Ambassor.

IF DONE PROMPTLY.

Ponce, August 8—General Henry with the Sixth Illinois and Sixth Massachusetts will leave tomorrow by way of Adjuntas on the Arecibo roads, which are in very bad condition. Practically all our troops will then be in motion toward San Juan, at Yauco General Wilson and General Brooke near Guayama.

Porto Ricans have been engaged by General Stone in skirmishing with the Spanish near Adjuantas and last night a Spanish officer was killed.

Gen. Miles, with several cavalry, expect to follow Gen. Henry, and if peace is promptly declared Gen. Miles will be the first to enter San Juan. In view of the news received of returning peace negotiations from Spain army officers think there will be no more fighting.

SECRETARY DAY MAY RESIGN.

No Official Utterance Is Obtainable on The Subject However.

Washington, August 8—The published report of the intention of Secretary Day to resign the office of secretary of state upon the termination of the present war, is based upon statements that were made at the time he assumed office to the effect that he would consent to hold it but a short time. No official utterance as to the secretary's purpose is now obtainable, and Secretary Day himself declines to make any statements on the subject, so it cannot be ascertained positively whether or not the period of time which he had in mind as the length of his service when he assumed office has about expired.

Washington, August 8—With regard to the preparations being made for the shipment of the Spanish soldiers from Santiago to Spain, the War Department officials are represented as being satisfied.

It is recalled that most of the other competitors for the transportation contract required until September 1st to accomplish the embarkation, which under the present arrangement, it is expected will be completed by August 15th, or very soon thereafter.

NOT SO THEN.

According to the testimony of our truthful and conservative Wilmington contemporaries, the situation of affairs in that city is deplorable and alarming. Due to a municipal government which is, to say no more, weak and inefficient; to a police force which is incompetent, if not in sympathy with the lawless element, crime of every kind runs riot and the city is at the mercy of burglars, thugs and hoodlums. It was not so when the democrats had control of the state and of the Wilmington city government—the new state of affairs is one of the fruits of "reform" Our chief seaport city is officered by black men and worse white men, creatures of Gov. Russell, whose hand is ever against the respectability of the state and whose heart is doubtless filled with delight on account of the punishment suffered by a people whom he hates in particular because it is they who know him best and consequently hate him most.

If we North Carolinians are indeed brethren, bound together by a common tie, it is our duty to forget theoretical politics and unite not only for the rescue of communities like Wilmington from a condition approaching anarchy, but to avert from ourselves possible calamites such as these communities are doomed for at least a time to endure. We must carry the legislature this year, in order to give to the people of these eastern communities and counties local government under which they can live, and not only so, but to insure that we of the west are not ourselves reduced to their condition.—Charlotte Observer.

And other towns and cities in eastern Carolina suffer the same measure of shame and degradation at the hands of the present administration. The most incompetent of colored men and the most designing of white men are largely in control of towns all over the eastern end of the state. There are colored men down there who would be a credit to those in office; but the most competent and respectable of the colored race seem to be left out. Men whom the white skinned ringsters can twist about to meet their own designing and greedy ends, are the men allowed to eat at the pie stand.

And Russell, the kusser; he must, indeed, be proud of the creatures of his handiwork! Being no more impressionable than a cast iron statue nothing can be said which he would feel; but how about about his friends and admirers, and those populists who placed him in power?

We ask them to honestly compare the results of his administration with what he claimed in his campaign speeches it would be. In a speech at Winston he said that after he should have become governor, and the people saw the good government which would follow, northern capitalists would flock to our towns and cities to invest their surplus capital; the Old North State would boom as she never had boomed and never could boom under democratic rule.

He was going to hang the latchstring on the outside and extend an invitation in the shape of hospitality to strangers and capitalists that could not fail to be accepted. It was in that speech he said that foreign capitalists might as well rent a ten acre lot in hell for a summer resort as to look for hospitality in North Carolina under a democratic administration.

How has it turned out? Where are all those who were coming to sip milk and honey from North Carolina streams? Isn't it more than probable that they have peeped through the window and caught a glimpse of the varied complexion of the political household?

Ever since the battle of Santiago the criticism of Admiral Sampson has been quite severe. It has come from different sources, from places high and low. There were many who questioned the wisdom of placing him at the head of the North Atlantic squadron. Because he happened to be a few miles away when Cervera tried to escape is no evidence that he was not doing his duty. He was away for a purpose, as is well known; he went according to agreement for a conference with Gen. Shafter. Commodore Schley's brilliant dash after the fleeing enemy is no more than any of the other brave commanders would have done. The criticism of Sampson is, we believe, unjust, and according to the theory of sympathy for the "bottom dog," his enemies are doing the very thing to make him popular with the American people.

CRITICISM OF SAMPSON.

It is Becoming to be a Very Serious Matter.

Washington, Aug. 8—The secretary of the navy has received several letters violently attacking Sampson. In reply to one of them the secretary says in part:

"Navy Department,
"Washington, Aug. 5.

"Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter and hasten to assure you that what you say about Admiral Sampson is so unjust that it can only be pardoned on the ground of your ignorance of the whole matter. Admiral Sampson was selected for the command of the North Atlantic squadron because the department, in the exercise of its best judgment, with an eye single to the public interests, believed that he was especially fitted for the place.

"The movement on Porto Rico was not a movement for its capture. . . Our movements to Porto Rico thus became a reconnoissance and fufilled its purpose. There was no intention at that time of taking Porto Rico, as the army was not ready to co-operate.

"With regard to sending our ships into the harbor of Santiago: Admiral Sampson was acting under the explicit orders of the department not to expose his armored ships to the risk of sinking by mines, and the wisdom of his course is, I believe, universally acknowledged by naval authorities. He waited as he should have done, the co-operation of the army. How effectually, under this co-operation, the result was accomplished, is now a matter of history.

"I can well understand why the friends of other officers would be so enthusiastic and earnest, as I am, in giving them the credit they so richly, every one of them, deserve, for their glorious work. I cannot conceive of anybody so mean as to detract by a single hair from their merit. But I cannot understand why such a bitter feeling is manifested in many quarters towards Admiral Sampson, when all these officers, subordinate to him, in their reports, clearly and cordially recognize the fact that although at the beginning, he was, by orders from Washington, going to confer with Gen. Shafter, yet the battle was fought under his orders, and that the victory was the consummation of his thorough preparation. For myself I know no predilliction for any one of these gallant men. I would crown every one of them with laurel. I want them all to have their just deserts. Every one of them deserves unstinted praise; not one of them deserves anything less than full measure for that day's work. And, therefore, I can think of nothing more cruel than a depreciation of the merit of the faithful, devoted, patriotic commander-in-chief, physically frail, worn with sleepless vigilance, weighed with measureless responsibilities and details, letting no duty go undone."

Brisket—"What can I send you up today, Mrs. Styles?" Mrs. Styles.—"Send me a leg of mutton and be sure it is from a black sheep." Brisket—"A black sheep?" Mrs. Styles—"Yes; we are in mourning, you know."—Roxbury Gazette.

Horrible Death at Kinston.

Kinston, Aug. 8—Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Miss Effie, the 17 year old daughter of L. J. Moore went to the kitchen to build a fire to prepare dinner and, unfortunately, used the oil can. In pouring the oil in the stove it became ignited and the can of oil exploded, and her clothes were literally burned from her body before asstance could reach her. While her body was terribly burned, her face was untouched, and her physicians thought she would probably recover, though she was in great pain. However, she did not survive, but died last night, having inhaled the flames, it is believed.

Miss Effie was quite popular and her death has cast a gloom over the entire town.—Special to Morning Post.

Tumor In the Breast Cured

Six or seven years ago I had a lump so known to come in my breast which made it swell so much that it became so hard I could not make a dent in the breast. It was so painful and caused me to suffer so that some nights I could hardly turn in the bed or rest. Nothing did me any good, and I was very uneasy, not knowing how it would terminate. I used one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, without stopping on it, and it made a perfect cure of me. The lump disappeared gradually and I have never had any trouble from it since.

The Dear Old Tunes.

When the dear old tunes come ringing
From the band,
From the band,
I can hear a far-off singing
From a dim and ghostly land.
Where the phantom tents are shining
And stacked the rifles stand.

When the dear old tunes come ringing
From the band.
From the band,
There are spectral soldiers swinging
Into line on every hand,
Grim veterans form in columns,
And shout the captains grand!

When the dear old tunes come ringing
From the band,
From the band,
Torn battle flags seem flinging
Their glory o'er the land,
The dead rise up and answer to the roll call of the band!

Value of Toes In Walking.

The idea that the lesser toes are necessary in walking is generally entertained, and it has been a surprise to European physicians to learn that amputation of all the lesser toes of both feet has been followed by complete recovery and the restoration to usefulness of both the feet operated upon. The feet healed slowly after the operation, but very steadily and without unpleasant complications. The operation was performed, and in a little more than a year and a half the patient danced all night and experienced no inconvenience whatever on account of having only one toe on each foot. She rides a wheel, plays tennis and enjoys every sport that girls of her age are fond of. The cause of the trouble was originally chilblains, which was neglected until it produced contraction of the muscles with the most intense pain, which was at times so severe that she could not enjoy the necessary amount of sleep. Surgeons are of the opinion that a great deal of needless suffering is endured which might be relieved by extremely simple operations on the feet.—New York Ledger.

Dodging a Shot.

When Dewey was first lieutenant of one of the gunboats which Farragut used as a dispatch boat the admiral used often to come aboard and steam up near the levee to reconnoiter. The southerners had a way of rushing a fieldpiece to the top of the high bank, firing point blank at the gunboat and then backing down again. Upon one such occasion Farragut saw Dewey dodge a shot.

"Why don't you stand firm, lieutenant?" said he. "Don't you know you can't jump quick enough?"

A day or so after the admiral dodged a shot The lieutenant smiled and held his tongue, but the admiral had a guilty conscience. He cleared his throat once or twice, shifted his attitude and finally declared:

"Why, sir, you can't help it, sir. It's human nature, and there's an end to it."

A General Proposition.

Wickwire (looking at board with "Pity the Blind" on it)—You are no more blind than I am.

Dismal Dawson—Well, what's it to you?

Wickwire—What business have you wearing that card?

Dismal Dawson—Jist as much right as anybody. I don't say I'm blind. This here is jist a abstract proposition. See? —London Tit-Bits.

A NEW WAREHOUSE.

The Tobacco Interest of Greensboro is Looming Up.

For some weeks a project to build a new tobacco warehouse in this city has been discussed and a few days ago it was announced that it had been abandoned.

Today we are glad to say this announcement was an error. The new warehouse is to be built at once. The building will be put up by Capt. B. J. Fisher, Mr. E. P. Wharton acting as his agent.

It will be erected on the corner of North Greene and Clay streets. The foundation will be of brick, and it will be a building of good size. The floor space will be 80x168 feet with broad and roomy driveways.

This warehouse is going up in response to a demand created by the growth of the tobacco interest here and the increasing popularity of Greensboro as a tobacco market. It is understood that the new warehouse has already been leased for a term of years.

Work is expected to begin inside of the next ten days.

A Card.

In response to many inquiries, I take this method of informing my friends throughout the county that I am not a candidate for renomination for the State Senate. The fact that my partner in the practice of law is a nominee of the party for the judgeship together with other reasons, makes it impossible for me to accept the nomination, should it be tendered. With grateful acknowledgement of the honor conferred upon me at the last election and pledging my earnest support to the success of the party, I remain,

Respectfully,
A. M. Scales.

Knows he Killed Three.

Private Bullock, of the First cavalry (colored) passed through today enroute to Winston. He was in the fight at Santiago and was wounded in left hand. Bullock was a sharpshooter and says he knows he killed three Spaniards. Two he shot out of trees and one on the ground. He says the one on the ground had been lost from his company and was hiding in the grass. Bullock was so near him when he fired that the powder from his gun burned the Spaniard.

Bullock is from Henderson, N. C., and joined the army 12 years ago.

A LUMP OF LEAVEN.

Getting Down to Business for the Tournament Next Year.

A lump of leaven was this morning thrown into the yet shapeless and unformed mass which will make next year's firemen's tournament at this place the biggest in the history of the association. This morning the Greensboro Tobacco Association met and appointed a committee of three, as follows: Messrs. H. C. Berger, W. J. Blackburn, and J. S. Cobb, to meet the committee of firemen and others and to promise the aid of the Tobacco Association in making the tournament a big success.

A similar committee will be appointed by the Industrial and Immigration Association this week; also at the regular meeting Friday night the board of aldermen will take like steps. Then these committees will meet and organize, the organization to be known as the central committee.

It will be noticed that in the tobacco men's committee the three branches of the business are represented; Mr. Berger the manufacturers, Mr. Blackburn the warehouses and Mr. Cobb the leaf dealers.

Consulting Mr. Milburn.

Mr. E. P. Wharton, of Greensboro, is in the city today in consultation with Architect Frank P. Milburn concerning plans for a handsome office building that is soon to be erected in that city by the North Carolina Guarantee and Investment Company. Mr. Milburn tells the News that the proposed building will be a credit to the state.—Charlotte News.

October 1 will be Chicago day at the Omaha exposition.

About one month ago my child which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by C. E. Holton.
